

CARBONDALE.

Friends will please note that advertisements, orders for job work, and items for publication left at the establishment of Shannon & Co., newsletters, North Main street, will receive prompt attention, office open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED.They Had From Forest City and Are Rapid Drivers.

Chief McAndrew arrested four young men from Forest City Saturday afternoon with the result that the young men had fired a gun from him to go to Crystal Lake. Soon after they left Forest City, some one came into the barroom and said that the young men were driving the horses at the top of their speed and otherwise misusing them.

The young men were in court, and at the time the court had gone to this city. After notifying McAndrew, they started together to search for the missing property and found it in front of Burke's, on South Main street. They were installed in the car and placed under arrest. They are believed to have had the horses not been misused. They claim they had no right to be arrested.

HORSE INJURED.It Was Running Away and Had a Bad Fall.

Last week a horse dashed up Main street causing considerable excitement among pedestrians and drivers of vehicles, who hurriedly got out of its way. Near the church an attempt was made to stop the drifting animal, but it leaped over a fence, turned and striking both legs, was standing nearly into and this the horse went to the ground. Before he could get up the animal was caught, it was so exhausted and hurt that it was hardly able to move. There was a large gash over one eye and other cuts on the body.

The horse is owned by Robert Benson, of Powderly road, who will be caused quite a loss by the injuries to the horse and wagon which was completely wrecked.

AWARDED TO C. L. BELL.A Jermyn Man Gets the Contract for the New Presbyterian Parsonage.

The contract for the new Presbyterian parsonage was awarded Saturday afternoon to C. L. Bell, of Jermyn. Mr. Bell, T. C. Robinson, W. H. Edgar, and A. T. Tiffany, of this city, the figure at which the contract was awarded was not given, but it was considerably under those of the other bidders.

The building must be completed by the 1st of November.

The contract for raising the church has been given to the Grand Rapids School Furnishing company. The plans will be of oak wood with brass trimmings and covered bottoms. They will probably be ready by the 10th of July, and will cost about $2,500.

PERSONAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

Miss Edith Vandemark, of Garfield Avenue, is visiting in Wayzata.

Miss Emma Bryson, of Sibley avenue, is spending a few days in Clifford.

Henry A. Lewis and Mrs. N. H. Owen, both of this city, were married at the home of the bride's parents yesterday by Rev. William Elam, of the Providence Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bennett and Miss Maude Stewart, of Clifford, were visitors in town Friday.

Mr. Peter Bennett, of Clifford, is spending a few days with his wife, Mrs. Fredrick, of Garfield Avenue.

An entertainment will be given in Watt's hall on Wednesday evening, May 27, under the auspices of the Carbonado High school Foot ball team. Tickets are now being disposed of for the affair. An excellent programme has been prepared.

Mr. Joseph Hogan and Miss Sarah Bell, of Forest City, visited friends in town last week.

Marguerite, the eighteen-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Malloy, of Franklin street, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Albert Stans has resigned his position as engineer at Hotel Apartments to accept a similar one at the International Hotel at Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Becklin, of Wilkes-Barre, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kilpatrick, of Scranton.

Miss Harry Harrison is improving.

The Douglas Chain will leave tomorrow for a few weeks' visit with friends in New York.

Miss Kiki Conner is the guest of friends in Scranton.

Mr. Orr King-Vall is on the mend after a few days' illness.

James Kenworthy was a visitor in Wilkes-Barre last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bunnell, formerly of this city, began housekeeping in Scranton last week.

AVOCADO.

If the Avocado is Cutting Teeth.

Mr. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by Mothers for their Children while Teething, with Perfect Success. It Soothes, Relieves, Cures, and Strengthens the Gums. "In all Pain, Care, and Disease, Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the best remedy for children." Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

AVOCADO.

During the past week rumors have been circulated about that Raymond's hall, at Moose, in which the Moose House company will conduct a fair beginning this evening, is in unsafe condition. The hall is built for a different purpose. The house company and Mr. Raymond know that the building would stand more strain than it could possibly get on this occasion, but in order to establish that fact in the minds of the people, they have sent a Notary building inspector for the use of Raymond, making a thorough investigation of the building and he informed it as perfectly safe. He also says that the building is with few exceptions, as strong as a warehouse usually is, and for hall purposes is very well built. Anyone attending the fair need not let the thoughts of danger in this line mar the pleasure of the evening.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will hold their regular monthly social at the home of Mrs. James Graham, of Vine street, on Tuesday evening.

GREAT SALE OF BODY BRUSSELS CARPETS.

We have no fortune to give away, yet we guarantee you goods at least as good as any other house in the trade. Your choice from our stock, which is complete at $100 Per Yard.

Remember we don't reserve any thing—These goods consist of all the leading makes. Come early and make your purchases.

J. SCOTT INGLIS,
CARPETS AND WALL PAPER

419 Lackawanna Ave.

HOW TO LIVE FOR 200 YEARS

You Can Do This, According to a California Authority.

OLD AGE IS A MERE DISEASE

A Vegetable Diet Salts One Down, It Is Claimed.—The Man Who Dies at 100 Dies a Century Too Soon—The Proper Food to Prevent One's Life.

From the New York Sun.

A man is no longer as old as he feels, nor a woman as old as she looks. Every body is as young as his or her arteries, and age depends entirely upon the individual, according to a California authority. C. Havens, of San Fran. Cal., claims to be an insurance competitor of the healing authorities on longevity, published under the title of "The Possibility of Living Two Hundred Years." Such works as Lewis Carroll, Austin, William Kinnaird, Dr. Lucy Evans, and Dr. Emanuel Donisthorpe, are cited as authorities.

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.' If it is true a man is as old as his arteries."

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'

Dr. Gilder supports the foregoing agent the distinctive qualities of vegetables by saying: "It seems to me that the nourishment, so different in the case of vegetables, of the class of plant life compared with meat, will be far better for the numerous cases of arteriosclerosis, degeneration in the brain, and cerebral, where many people lived excessively on rice. The inevitable conclusion is: 'A vegetable diet ruins the blood vessels, and makes one premature death.'